TAKING STALK IN THE BASICS Celery In Child Nutrition Programs

According to the USDA Food Buying Guide for Child Nutrition Programs: Vegetables are one of the required components of reimbursable meals in the National School Lunch Program (NSLP) and Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP).

Vegetables may be served as part of a reimbursable meal for the School Breakfast Program (SBP) and the Summer Food Service Program (SFSP). Vegetables may also be served as part of the reimbursable snack for the NSLP Afterschool Snack Service.

Over the course of the week, schools must offer vegetables from specific subgroups established by the Dietary Guidelines for Americans: dark green, red/orange, beans/peas (legumes), starchy, and "other" vegetables. Celery is part of the "other" vegetable category.

DANDY® CELERY COMES FROM A Family Farming Operation

Dandy® celery is grown and processed by Duda Farm Fresh Foods, a sixth generation family farming operation founded in 1926. We are the largest grower and processor of fresh-cut celery not only in the United States but also around the world.

We take great pride in offering a broad selection of fresh-cut celery that meets the demands of school nutrition programs. Our fresh-cut celery comes in a variety of formats and pack sizes to meet your needs for a ready-to-use vegetable that can be used in school meal, snack, and catering programs.

Crediting Celery IN SCHOOL MEAL PROGRAMS

Our fresh-cut celery is available in a variety of pack sizes, which offers great flexibility in crediting celery as part of school meals.

A creditable serving of celery is ¼ cup. ¼ cup of celery per USDA Food Buying Guide weights 37 grams.

Did You Know?

Celery is part of the "holy trinity" in the Cajun and Creole cuisine of Southern Louisiana.

Nearly every savory dish—from jambalaya and étouffée to gumbo—starts with a mixture of diced celery, onions, and green bell peppers. Many credit the term "holy trinity" to Chef Paul Prudhomme, the well-known New Orleans chef of Commander's Palace and later K-Paul's.
